

Liverpool FC: Signing Methods & Scouting Profiles (2025)

Jeremie Frimpong

Method: Tactical fit + Release Clause + Homegrown Status

- Signed for £29.5m using a release clause.
- Identified through GPS data, pressing ability, and overlapping runs.
- Scouted for his similarity to Trent Alexander-Arnold's style.
- Considered ideal for modern high-intensity full-back role.

Scouting Summary:

- Pace and acceleration in 95th percentile
- Effective in counterattacks and pressing phases
- Tactical fit for overlapping wing-back in a pressing system

Milos Kerkez

Method: Squad planning + Data-Driven Scouting + Market Opportunity

- Identified as a long-term Robertson replacement.
- Metrics included progressive carries, defensive recoveries, and offensive width.
- Signed from Bournemouth after impressing in the Premier League.

Scouting Summary:

- High output in crosses and final-third entries
- Dynamic and aggressive ball carrier
- Balanced in attack and defense

Florian Wirtz

Method: Elite-talent recruitment + Manager vision (Arne Slot) + Tactical system fit

Liverpool FC: Signing Methods & Scouting Profiles (2025)

- Signed for a record fee of £100-116m.
- Targeted due to tactical IQ, passing range, and pressing efficiency.
- Convinced by Slot's development plan and project vision.

Scouting Summary:

- High cognitive ability and vision
- Strong in link-up play and transitions
- One of Europe's top talents under 22

Hugo Ekitike

Method: High-ceiling risk + Physical profile + Potential Rebuild

- Signed from Eintracht Frankfurt for ~£70m.
- Profiled as a physical and pacey forward with technical upside.
- Seen as a project player to develop under Slot.

Scouting Summary:

- Tall (6'3"), explosive pace
- Potential to become elite with proper development
- Volatile performance metrics, but high ceiling

Giorgi Mamardashvili

Method: Goalkeeping analytics + Undervalued market asset

- Signed from Valencia in a pre-agreed deal for ~£27m.
- Identified through GK-specific data: reaction saves, distribution accuracy.

Liverpool FC: Signing Methods & Scouting Profiles (2025)

Scouting Summary:

- Top-tier reaction time and reflexes
- Accurate long-ball distribution
- Age 24, seen as future No.1 keeper
