WHAT IS StS?

StS is a non profit, non religious, non discriminatory and non governmental organization (NGO) that operates in the areas of morality and leadership. Its focus is to provide leadership moral and character development education primarily to youth - in schools, colleges and the rest of society members. It further carry out activities (projects and programs) meant for providing civic education to citizens, promoting peace and unity and defending human rights.

REGISTRATION

The organization is registered as a local NGO in Tanzania on 17th September, 2009 to operate at national level.

PREAMBLE

Development process is entangled with a number of challenges and hindrances like infrastructure, corruption, diseases and leadership problems that appears to fade development efforts if not thoroughly addressed. Tanzania being among those countries facing the afore mentioned problems, has with little progress taken various measures to address the situation. This shows that the measures so far being taken has not tackled the root cause of the problems.

So, on supporting government and other activists' efforts to save the society by bringing development to it, StS has set a focus on integrating moral and character issues as a fundamental solution towards addressing the problems. To raise upright public servants and leaders who shall bring the change.

We believe that some one who is morally sensitive with upright character is hardily driven to engage him/herself into detrimental practices like corruption which is the very source of our failure to develop. It is therefore our commitment to integrate moral and character issues in development process. To provide individuals with moral and character development education to build them with capacity to uphold values that are essential for socioeconomic wellbeing. To prepare a new generation that shall make the difference.
